

Create a story about your favourite (or the most exciting) object you saw at Fairfax House. How will your object sound when it tells its own story? How will it describe itself? What secrets might it share about its owner or other people who use it? What adventure will it have?